

The News of yesterday, after glancing at the attitude of the Wisconsin democratic papers on the Kansas question, and cataloging the "absolute freedom and fearless independence" of the Democratic press, arrives at the satisfactory conclusion that there is no all, no cause of quarrel between them, and that the small minority which sustains Douglas will speedily yield to the large majority which supports Buchanan. We quote the language of the Federal organ:

A few—less than a third—of the Democratic papers, it is true, dissent from the Kansas policy of Mr. Buchanan; but they do it, with only two exceptions, with repudiation of the article which would be of great interest to us. We have the fullest confidence that they will not hereafter. The uniform ability and prudence evinced in this paper is assurance of the ultimate agreement of all the Democratic newspapers, upon the President's "Kansas policy," as upon every other question of National politics."

It is not true, that because a small number of Democratic newspapers dissent from our article of policy adopted by President Buchanan, that it is also true that these will be found in the highest circles of the Republicans. In less than thirty days every Democratic paper in this State, and every Democratic paper in the whole country, will be united in the support of the National Administration.

This is the vision of a compliant Office-holder. The News looks at the Kansas question with few olive sprouts, and through that medium everything seems fair and square. But there are "a few" (less than a third), the News says, but a very decided majority according to our count of the Democratic editors in this State, who do not enjoy such official facilities. Nevertheless, the News expects that they will ultimately all agree in their views. To be able to do so, the movement must follow the induction in King Lear.

—The glass goes.

"And the things you do not do."

A good law office is the natural equivalent for a pair of such "glass eyes" as Shakespeare wrote of. The News is already abundantly provided. But the Javits, Standard, Madison Patriot, Washington County Democrat, Sheboygan Journal, La Crosse Democrat, &c., have not yet secured their glasses, and meantime eye the Leavenworth Villains askant. "In less than thirty days," however, the News announces that a miracle is to be wrought; these purblind editors are to have their eyes opened, and "every Democratic paper in the whole country" is to be "united in support of the National Administration." Mr. BUCANAN is the famous optician who is to effect this wholesale cure, and Federal patronage is the magic eye-water "upon which he relies for success." We confess our incredulity. Nevertheless, it is plain that the President is in earnest, and whenever he fails to restore to an official who is blind to the beauties of Leavenworth, "King James" promptly takes off his head. The melancholy fate of the Postmen at Columbus and Chicago, is an instance in point and a timely warning to all Federal Office holders who indulge in the luxury of "absolute freedom and fearless independence." Our Democratic President tolerates no such nonsense.

DEMOCRATIC DESCUSSION ON GEORGE BANCROFT.—At a meeting of the "Wilton" (Democratic) Committee of New York, Monday week, resolutions were passed declaring that George Bancroft, Wm. F. Hayne, Mayor of the city, George Douglas, Oliver D. T. Grant, and James E. Cooley, are not Democrats, and do not profess to be such except for ulterior purposes; that no Democrat except the fourteen hundred and two traitors who followed the Tammann lead of Slickers, in November last, will countenance any anti-Leavenworth meeting; that the forty-one thousand Democrats of the city cordially endorse the Presidential Leavenworth message. A committee of three was also directed to inquire if the Tammany Society of that city, a professedly Democratic association, is not in fact controlled by the enemies of the party. The following resolution was voted at Mr. Shaw's:

Resolved, That we are deeply mortified and humiliated by the singular apathy of a portion of the public in the national position and political neutrality of President Franklin P. Blair. Tennessee, descending to a common level with the "Angel Gabriel," and preaching an atheist's crusade against the national Administration and the Democratic party, boldly and shamefully laboring in the interests which peculiarly affect the Southern Association. We must not know Northern, with godless infidels and atheists, and with the baseless love of temporality, to disturb the peace and harmony of our people, and to subvert the Union and the Constitution.

ANXIOUS CASE OF "CONTINENTAL"—W. H. Auden, one of the Yale College (New Haven) students, under examination concerning the late disturbance resulting in the death of a fireman, was asked if he saw any kind of firearms lying on a table on the night of the trouble. He declined answering because his answer "might tend to expose him to a criminal prosecution." He was imprisoned for contempt; but his counseal took out a writ of habeas corpus, and he was discharged, Chief Justice Stors deciding that:

"It is the duty of a court, while not allowing the witness to shield himself by a mere self-evident subterfuge, to be at the same time scrupulously careful not to require the witness to answer a question which he is not in a position to answer, or which the court may have no knowledge, but which the court can see to be possibly true," the answer may so expose the witness."

THE UNFORTUNATE VERNON RAILROAD.—Following the lead of the Rutland and Burlington Railroad Company, the holders of the First Mortgage Bonds of the Vermont Central Railroad, in amount two million dollars, are about to make the attempt to place the management of the road in the hands of Trustees of their own election. It appears, however, according to statements made at the preliminary meeting of bondholders in Boston, that the Trustees in possession intend to contest the constitutionality of the law which authorizes the choice of Trustees, and have retained the able legal talent in Vermont in their behalf. The bondholders seem to think that by good management the road can be made sufficiently valuable to pay the rest of the Canada road and the First Mortgage Bonds, and therefore the holders of these bonds are called upon to contribute one per cent, upon the value per year, a fund to be used to bring about so desirable a result.

SENATORIAL CHARACTERISTICS.—The British Minister, Lord Napier, gave his opinion of several Senators in the following words, which are valuable as characteristic of his lordship, as well as conveying the general opinion of the public in regard to the men he mentioned. He said:

"Mr. Seward is the most astute politician.—Mr. Hurler the profoundest; Mr. Davis the ablest debater, and Mr. Souther the deepest student."

IN SUPREME COURT.

Falvey and Kitbourn Remanded into Custody.

Reported for the Daily State Journal.

TUESDAY, Feb. 23, 1858.

Chief Justice Whiton unseated the cause of the Court in the cause of Falvey and Kitbourn, because he had not had time to write out his opinion in full. In the first instance he would take into consideration the power of the Court, to enquire into the legality of the imprisonment of persons by the Legislature.—Under the Constitution, the Court would not be able to do so, and probably would not be able to do so, except it was known, if found, and the record of whose names has perhaps not been ascertained.

Scarcely less than eighty persons have been arrested in the rooms of the Pacific hotel, there standing on Seventh and Franklin Streets, on Friday night. It is known that an unusually large number of guests had been staying at the Pacific hotel, who supper and took rooms in this hotel.

But the petitioners claimed that even if the Legislature had the power to do so, it could not proceed. Yesterday afternoon the long-preserved process of launching this vessel was happily brought to a successful issue. The vessel, which had been in the course of her voyage to the West Indies, was to have been towed to the river in the evening, it was resolved on Friday night, that she should be towed to the river in the morning. As was stated in our last impression, it was resolved on Friday night, that the attempt to haul her to her moorings should be made on the following day, and that all necessary preparations should be made to do so. The vessel was to be towed to the river in the morning, and then the crew of the vessel would have been sent ashore, and the vessel would have been towed to the river in the afternoon.

The resolution directed that Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the prisoners in custody, was as valid as the order of the Court, that it would have been issued by the Speaker's warrant.

These points were referred to the Committee, but the general request was granted, that the court would be allowed to know, if any witness could be made to appear before the Court, that he would be compelled to do so, and that he would be compelled to do so, except it was known, that a witness could not be made to appear, who would render what he would say of great interest.

Nothing of this kind, however, was to be apprehended yesterday. The weather was fine, and the tide went up with the usual regularity, and the vessel was towed to the river in the morning.
